This production, with a cast of 30, is going to be a sell out, especially the Saturday matinee. It's the school hols, straight after Easter, children will be pouring in. Don't disappoint them.

Come and spend the night in The Ugly Sisters' Bedroom, Castle Charming, The Forest, and Bankrupp Hall, but listen out for The Thieving Magpie

"Murder at the Marriage"

On 15th June the Players will also stage another of their murder mystery dinners in All Saints Church. Winsford playwright Richard Hall is creating "Murder at the Marriage", though details of the plot have to remain shrouded at present for you and your fellow guests to follow the clues and apprehend the killer.

"You are invited to a wedding...dress code "heel and tie"...wait for the trouble to begin," Richard reveals cryptically. Expect, therefore, murder and mayhem amid the coronation chicken and wedding cake, and an opportunity for the audience to solve the murder while enjoying their wedding breakfast.
